$12.00 Pre-Registered Non-Subscribers and At-The-Door
Remember — Pre-registration assures you a reserved seat!

Can you beat this? An evening of networking and the chance to find out if that special someone's dream date includes a romantic dinner for two, or a fast-pitch softball game. And what about you newlyweds? Bet you didn't know that about her when you tied the knot!

So come on down, don't be a Hollywood Square, join SACWN and Emcee Vicky (Bob Eubanks) Bailey for an hilarious evening of intimate fun as we play the Lesbian Dating Game. Or avoid that Family Feud and sign up for the Lesbian Newlywed Game. There's lots of fun in store for the audience as well, as we participate in devising the questions to stump the participants. Win, Lose, or Draw, we'll all have fun!

Remember to sign up for either the Dating Game or Newlywed Game by calling Susan Goodrich at 451-9691. You may not go home with the $25,000 Pyramid, but prizes will be awarded to all winners (you may even go home with her if you Name That Tune).

Be brave and put yourself in Jeopardy, grease up that Wheel of Fortune, and come on down, The Price Is Right for a Lesbian Love Connection.

EditorialSPEAK/OUT*IS UNITY POSSIBLE?

The River City Democratic Club (RCDC) recently hosted a forum on "Lesbians and Gay Men . . . Together In The '90's?" This groundbreaking get-together was the first in a series of dialogues providing an exchange of ideas and opinions on issues important to our community. Ground-breaking because I know of no other organization committed to encouraging open dialogue among gay men and lesbians. And given the hilarity, anger, and openness generated in that room, we could use more of it.

The topic was unity; are we working together for political and personal unity in our own community and equality in the larger arena we call society, or are we only "united" in our political work as a survival response to a common enemy, Lou Sheldon and the Religious Right?

Unity within the gay and lesbian community is open to definition and is shaped by one's experience within that community. It has been argued by some lesbians that in the new unity among gays and lesbians, borne out of the AIDS crisis, not much between the sexes has changed. Patriarchy is still the parameter within which we function; men still expect to be taken care of and women are still the caretakers. Not that responding to a serious and life-threatening illness is "typical female behavior," but there is a pitifully small number of men who have volunteered in rape-crisis centers and battered women's shelters compared to the number of women who work or volunteer time in AIDS-related agencies. Where is the response of gay men to women's crises?

And what about us lesbians? How does our often separatist behavior affect our ability to befriend, let along work with, gay men? And do we want to? I believe that being homosexual separates us from non-homosexuals in a very obvious way and being lesbian separates us from gay men in a very basic way: the ingress and egress of our energy is women. If having friendships with gay men is important (and I think it is) then we both need to find some common ground that we can stand on. That may be as difficult or as easy as our own experiences allow.

In our attempts to define unity between gay men and lesbians, we forget to consider how our historical lack of community has encouraged disunity among us and left us with a dysfunctional way of relating to each other. As I listened to the dialogue at the RCDC forum, the most obvious hindrance to unity was each person's struggle to get beyond a "homosexist" view of the other. I often cringe when women characterize gay men as limp-wristed faggots or flaming queens. Similarly, gay men use such words as bulldyke in a way which implies something less than human. I don't think this type of thoughtless stereotyping is meant to be cruel or vindictive but is a response to the only way some gay men and lesbians know how to perceive each other.

We need to examine the destructive ways in which gay stereotypes influence our perceptions of each other as lesbians and gays. As one man put it, "We need to listen to what is offensive to each other." I also believe lesbians and gay men have basic cultural differences which need to be expressed and ritualized in our own fashion, exclusive of the other. We are people with acknowledged differences which we can honor, argue about, and love.

I believe in finding unity among lesbians and gay men. But this unity needs to be based on a more personal and substantive level than just a political response to people like Helms, Lou Sheldon, and their ilk. For me, unity involves the respect of friend for friend, brother for sister, as the basis of community.

Letter

Editor,

I am tired of know-it-all people telling me when and how to "come out" in my life. I consider myself an out, brave lesbian; I am in a long-term relationship with a woman, I hold a job and have a part-time business. By living my lifestyle and by making no excuses for my choice of a partner and activities, I am showing myself to the heterosexual world as I am, another person trying to exist in this very complicated and ever-changing society. I choose not to carry banners with GAY RIGHTS written on it. I perceive myself as Lesbian and assure that my rights are secure by behaving in a respectful way towards every person I meet, whether heterosexual or gay or lesbian. I do not seek out red-necks so that we can all behave obnoxiously and shout hate-slogans at each other. This is not the way I choose to live. I also do not choose to have gay men as friends. I have been molested by men as a child and had a terrible relationship with my father. Although I do not hate men as a whole, I am a bit fearful and apprehensive about having them as close, personal friends. But that is between me and my therapist. I joined SACWN to be in an emotionally safe environment to share time and activities with other lesbians.

If I wanted to share time with gay men as well, I would join a "GAY" organization or do things on weekends with my gay men friends. I certainly would not demand that other lesbians let my gay men friends into the SACWN functions. THIS IS WHY I AM WRITING THIS LETTER. I cannot understand why there are women having fits because gay men can't come to all the events! Don't women such as I have a say-so in this matter? Yes we do! And I challenge your own inner homophobia for being so dependent on having a man around all the time. Do you identify yourself as a Lesbian, do you have a relationship with a woman? I realize some "GAY" women have sex with "GAY" men as well. That's why I prefer to be called Lesbian rather than Gay. That lifestyle is not for me and I do not want to come to SACWN events and see insecure Gay women and men playing mock-heterosexual boyfriend and girlfriend games. Do that on your own time. Or advertise your activities for a special interest group called "SACWN members who like to socialize with Gay men." Then you can be surrounded with like-minded SACWN members. I think SACWN is a mature organization that tries to have respect for everyone in it, not disrespect like a few of you have shown with your condemnation of SACWN's confidentiality policy. The policy is there to protect us from organizations that would, if they could, infiltrate and annihilate anything other than heterosexual right-wing lifestyles. So why don't you try pushing your own personal boundaries and have a little understanding instead of pushing SACWN's boundaries to suit your whims of how you think we ought to be. If you were so non-homophobic yourself you wouldn't have to hide behind a banner or your gay boyfriend. Look inside, you're not any less homophobic than the rest of us. Homophobia is a little "gift" this society has given us to deal with and we all do it in our own ways. It is a process and we're all in our phases of dealing with it. So quit being so demanding of instant results of the sort that you think ought to happen, and have a little respect for those of us who are a little older, a little less vocal, and want a little safe sharing with each other.

CAP PAC Forum

Gay Marriage is the topic of the next CAP/PAC Foundation quarterly forum scheduled for Monday, September 10, 1990, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Townhouse, 1517 - 21st Street in Sacramento. A panel of speakers will explore the value of a public commitment ceremony and legal alternatives to traditional marital protections for same sex partnerships.

Panelists will include Rev. Ed Sherriff, Bishop for the Northwest District of the Metropolitan Community Church and Carolyn Langenkamp, a prominent local attorney. Partners who have formalized their commitment to one another through a marriage ceremony will also share their views.

CAP/PAC's May forum on internalized homophobia drew an audience of over 100 people including an enthusiastic group of parents and friends of gays. In a questionnaire, that audience selected Gay Marriage as the topic for the September forum.

CAP/PAC Foundation is a nonprofit organization established to provide community education on political and social issues of importance to gay men and lesbians.

Admission to the forum is $7.00 in advance and includes hors d'oeuvres between 5:30 and 6:00 p.m. Reservations may be made by sending $7.00 to CAP/PAC Foundation, 8507 Daimler Way, Sacramento, CA 95828. Since seating will be limited, advance ticket reservations are advised. Admission will be $8.00 at the door.

For more information, contact Anne Bersinger — 920-9587.

River City Democratic Club Sponsors Upcoming Events

The River City Democratic Club (RCDC) invites members and non-members to participate in three special events scheduled for September and early October.

A "Fabulous Flea Market and Food Bazaar," set for 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, September 15, at McKinley Park (on McKinley Boulevard between 30th and 33rd), will feature slightly-used treasures and "good junk," an array of food delicacies, and the opportunity to rent a space for $15 to sell crafts, antiques, etc. To donate food or merchandise, or to help on the 15th, contact Judy Ludwick at 429-2806 or Sonny Helm at 925-4667. Large contributions will be picked up in advance.

RCDC's meeting at 6:30 p.m. on September 18 will combine a Potluck and "members bring a non-member to dinner" with the Club's discussion of endorsements for candidates and ballot measures for the November election. Watch for details about the location or call President Karl Greene at 927-2029.

A special "Dialogue With The River City Democratic Club," focusing on the probable impact on lesbians and gays of consolidating Sacramento's city and county governments in November, will be held on Monday, October 1. Registered voters will decide whether or not the present nine-member City Council and five-member County Board of Supervisors will become a 12-member Council of Supervisors with 20 local community councils.

November's vote is important to the lesbian/gay community because the City Council, which consists of eight Democrats and one Republican, has reflected a liberal stance in enacting a citywide gay rights ordinance and in supporting other community issues. County voters reflect a more conservative view. Thus, a differently balanced city-county governmental body may affect not only the future of the existing gay rights ordinance, but gay politics in Sacramento.

For more information about the Dialogue, contact Joanna Cassese at 451-0288 or Judy Ludwick.

RCDC is dedicated to working with the Democratic Party to influence party policy on lesbian/gay issues, to organize the community to work politically to defend the dignity of all people, and to campaign for candidates, propositions and legislation.

Special Interest Groups

We salute Ellen this month for her two years of dedication to the Outdoor Recreation group! Ellen is finally stepping down after many outings to the ski slopes, the tennis courts, hiking, horseback riding, bicycling and whale watching. We appreciate all your hard work, Ellen, and especially for hanging in for so long when other commitments beckoned. The Outdoor Rec group has been very popular and has taken a lot of organizing and enthusiasm. Thanks so much, Ellen.

BRIDGE

The Bridge Brigade is continuing to meet twice a month. All of the games are on Friday evenings at 7:00 p.m. The Sept. games will be at Lou's on the 14th and at Jean's on the 28th. A lesson will be held at Joyce and Lydia's on Sept. 15; practices are scheduled on an impromptu basis. For more info, call Joyce, 1-676-4317.

GOLF

Golf dates coming up are Sept. 13 and 27 at Land Park. Call Jane, 424-3153 if you are interested in playing.

SINGLES

Our next meeting will be Sun., Sept. 9. It will be a fun-filled excursion to Vacaville. We're going to play miniature golf at Scandia, bargain shop the factory outlets at the Nut Tree and end the day with an authentic delicious Mexican meal in Dixon. Call Cheryl, 452-1687 for further information.

OUTDOOR RECREATION

A new facilitator is needed for this group. Call Ellie, 967-0611, if you're interested.

SELF-EMPLOYED WOMEN

Our group has a new meeting time — the 4th Tuesday of each month, this month, Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at a new location. The topic will be "Ethics and Decision-making." Call Aeriel, 452-5503, for location.

BOOK CLUB

What color is the book this month? Well, it's not the color purple. What? Sorry, just a play on words to tie in with Alice Walker. The book for this month is Alice Walker's The Temple of My Familiar. We have been waiting for it to be out in paperback and now it is! The book group meets Sunday, September 16, at 3 p.m. For more information, please call Gretchen, 922-6287.

LATE-BLOOMING LESBIANS

There is not planned meeting at this time for September. A new facilitator is needed for this group — please call Ellie, 967-0611.

REALTIONSHIP ADDICTION

We are a 12-step program offering annonymity and confidentiality as well as support, and we meet to learn new methods of relating. This month, call Ann, 927-6038.
